T. A. Riordan was a business visitor in Ash Fork Wednesday.

Mrs. Lund left yesterday for a month's visit to her daughter in San Francisco.

Prof. T. H. Cureton, of Williams, is a member of the Normal school faculty and is teaching mathematics.

J. G. Phillips, manager of the Penney store, made a flying business trip to Winslow Wednesday, coming back the same night.

W. J. Randall went home to Pine Monday after shipping 500 cattle to northern parts. While here he made his headquarters at the Pine.

Mrs. Alf Dickinson has been confined to her bed with a severe cold at her home at the Pine Hotel for over a week now. Her friends hope to see her out again very shortly.

T. E. Pulliam is in Phoenix this week on business.

Walter Miller, general manager of the Miller Co. of Jerome, was in Flagstaff Wednesday.

T. E. Pollock and son, Master Tom, Jr., went to Kingman Wednesday on a couple days' business trip.

Chas. Pond, of Hillside, has accepted a place with the C. O. Bar outfit, and is now driving their new truck, hauling supplies to the ranges.

The big pine tree in the street across the track on Leroux street was cut down Wednesday to improve that street. It has been a menace to traffic for some time.

Charles Hooker, one of the big stockmen of Yavapai county, is in Flagstaff this week from Prescott, having been called as a witness in the Stephens murder case.

"Wild Horse" Bill Fredericks was in town the first of the week to prove up on his homestead out at Long Park, west of Mormon mountain. He stopped at the Pine Hotel.

William Wallace left Saturday for Holbrook to accept about 100 head of steers to put on his range.

Mrs. William Rudd and children accompanied Mr. Rudd Wednesday evening when he returned to his ranch to enjoy a few days' rest and change away from town.

Roger A. Morse, with the Citizens' Bank, has been acting as manager of the Williams branch of the bank for some time during the absence of the manager, Mr. Scoville, on a vacation in California.

Hon. David B. Houston, secretary of agriculture and party, were the guests at the El Tovar hotel, at Grand Canyon, the first of the week, later going to Phoenix for a visit to that super-productive valley.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Scroggs spent yesterday in Flagstaff. Mr. Scroggs was until recently a member of the editorial staff of the Phoenix Republican, and was on his way to his old home at St. Louis.

One of the new members of the faculty of the summer session of the Northern Arizona Normal School who is practically a home man is Prof. T. H. Cureton, of Williams. Prof. Cureton is in charge of commercial subjects.

Michael Schmuck, the young man who has ironed out troubles for nearly every logging camp in the country for the past twenty years, is now located at the Apache Lumber Co. mill at Cooley, Ariz., and says he is well pleased with his new job.

Mrs. W. D. Drain has received a wire from Mr. Drain stating that he had arrived in Camp Hill, Va., from overseas, and expected to get home in ten days. Mr. Drain reached the United States on Monday, after many months as a member of the A. E. F. in France.

Among Flagstaff visitors this week called here by superior court business and stopping at the Pine Hotel, are: J. P. Gibson, of Grand Canyon; R. L. Van Deren, of Sedona; W. R. Chestnut; and W. H. Ruby, of Pittman Valley; Charles Rice and Ed Conway, of Williams.

Danny Campbell is back home on his boyhood stamping grounds again after over a year's sea duty in the U. S. navy. He was mighty well pleased to get back to the old mountain again and his friends here were equally much pleased to see him again.

Dan McPeak, representing the Hartford Fire & Casualty Co., of Los Angeles, was the guest of Harlow Yeager this week and intended to take a few days' outing at his sheep ranch in the Canyon Diablo country, but was called home by wire on Wednesday.

Mrs. C. Muncey and Miss Pearl Muncey at their home on West Aspen avenue are enjoying a visit from some prominent Los Angeles friends, Mrs. Morrison and two daughters, Ann and May, and Miss Ellaberta Miller. They will remain during the rest of the summer.

Dr. Lewis Morton and wife and Robert Morton of Los Angeles, arrived in Flagstaff Saturday and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pollock for a few weeks. Robert Morton has not as yet recovered from a wound he received during one of the last battles of the war in France.

Mrs. Will Marlar is enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. M. H. Best, and sister, Mrs. E. F. Ruse, both of Santa Barbara, Cal. Mrs. Best will remain the rest of the summer while Mrs. Ruse will have to end her visit in two weeks. Mrs. Marlar and her guests motored to Grand Canyon yesterday.

Town Marshal Neill has an announcement elsewhere in this issue relative to the observance of the various traffic laws. Neill hopes that the auto owners will take a little more thought about the laws, as a closer observance of some of them will keep him from making arrests that otherwise he would not have to make.

Bob Gleason, one of the men who help bring this section out of the wilderness, was in Flagstaff yesterday from his ranch near Bellemont. Bob thoroughly approves of existing conditions in his section with the expressed hope that the plug on the rain barrel above will be pulled at the proper time right around here soon.

The school board of Winslow recently engaged as one of its new teachers a Mr. Lewis, of Logan, W. Va. The last issue of the Winslow paper states that when Mr. Lewis left for his new job he took with him "another man's wife instead of his own." A violation of the Mann act was laid against him, and a U. S. marshal took him to Tucson for a hearing.

J. W. Robinson, the man who is putting the motorcycle on the map in Flagstaff, tells us the results of the recent motorcycle race on the Ascot Park Speedway in Los Angeles. There were 16 entries, 6 of them riding the Harley-Davidson. A Los Angeles paper, commenting on the race, said it looked like a Harley-Davidson parade for the 6 entries won the first six places, a local boy winning first place.

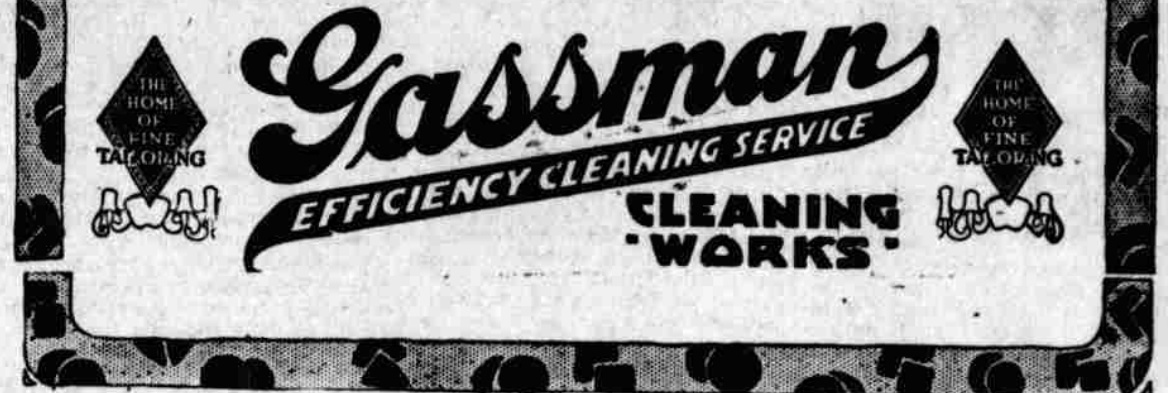

V. A. Kieth, of Winslow, was a visitor here last week-end, coming up from a trip to Prescott and Williams, in the interest of Kieth Bros., the oil magnates. Another member of the firm, R. L. Kieth, with Julian Harben, connected with the firm, came up from Winslow for a day or two at the same time. A party of Prescott business men recently made an inspection trip to the Winslow fields as a result of V. A. Kieth's missionary work in that territory.

Kenneth Gillette, chief claim agent of the Santa Fe, with headquarters at Los Angeles, went through Flagstaff yesterday on his way home from the East, where he has been giving a series of moving pictures illustrating the causes of loss and damaged shipments in the interest of better handling of goods. He is one of the best bets of the Santa Fe and is well known here. Mr. Gillette expects to bring his movies to Flagstaff within the next month or so and look into his old favorite fishing grounds on Oak Creek.

J. W. Weatherford has sold his residence property on North Leroux street to H. B. White.

Archie Grant, who has been doing some contract carpenter work at Ash Fork, came home Sunday evening.

Charles Schulz, who has been in Flagstaff for several days on business, returned to Phoenix Tuesday.

The Sun job department turns out job printing that you are not ashamed to have your business associates see.

Mrs. R. E. Lightburn, of Phoenix, is the guest of her daughter, Miss Ruth, and will remain here for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Francis and family are now settled in their summer home in the pines north of Flagstaff. They motored up from Phoenix, reaching here Saturday.

Word has been received by Walter Durham that his son Clarence has landed in New York, but there was no definite information as to when he would be expected home.

Roy Edmundson and family, old Flagstaff residents, are back in town after a stay in Winslow. Mr. Edmundson is a railroad man and is still in the service of the Santa Fe.

Julius Wetzler and son, Julius, Jr., were business visitors in Flagstaff on Tuesday from Holbrook. Mr. Wetzler is well pleased with the business and stock outlook in the Holbrook section.

Al Webber, a prominent auto dealer of Prescott, and Ed Ruffner, a former sheriff of Yavapai county, are now in Flagstaff, having been called here as witnesses in the Stephens murder trial.

Engineer H. B. Fay has been for some time at work gathering data necessary before the establishment of the rural free delivery route out Cliffway and on into Doney and Blackbill parks.

J. H. Fuller, now of San Diego, but formerly one of the youngest early-day cattlemen of Northern-Arizona, came in Monday from California for a short stay before going to his old range at Winslow.

Associate Forester A. F. Potter, of Washington, and District Forester Paul G. Reddington, of Albuquerque, arrived in Flagstaff Saturday morning, and were in conference with local forest officers and stockmen.

Ed Stephens, secretary of the Live-Stock Sanitary Board, was in Flagstaff the first of the week on business connected with his office and incidentally visited his daughter who is attending the summer school at the Normal.

A letter received from J. A. Anderson, of Los Angeles, says that W. H. Anderson, his brother, who has been desperately ill in that city for several months, is getting along nicely and sends best wishes to all his old friends in Flagstaff.

Miss Myrtle Cedar, a trained nurse of Albuquerque, will probably remain in Flagstaff for some months. Miss Cedar was called here to attend Mrs. Laney in her last illness, and has found the town delightful and her services in demand.

Supt. Mitchell, of the Phoenix street railway, was in Flagstaff last Friday making arrangements for ties for his railroads. Mr. Mitchell announced that the old Grand Avenue line to the state fair grounds will be in operation again in time for the fair.

Corp. George Hoekderffer, Jr., came home the latter part of last week, having landed in New York in May and being given an honorable discharge at Fort Bliss last week. He looks fine and is mighty glad to get back to the little old U. S. A., and especially Flagstaff again.

Chief Scaler Rhinehart, of the Forest Service, was called out of service for several days by reason of ptomaine poisoning. He avows very earnestly that a churn end log had nothing on him as to being out of shape during the time he was at the peak-load of his ptomaine-ing.

Frank E. Brooks has suffered a series of accidents lately, none very serious, but all very painful. Some time ago he stuck a nail in his foot. A short while later a bottle broke in his grasp and the pieces cut his hand. Before that had time to heal well he stuck a nail in his finger to the bone, making a deep and bad wound. But Mr. Brooks says he does not believe in "three times and out," and has stayed on the job.

W. C. Bayless returned last week from California, where he has been for the past 3 months. He was operated on last April at a California hospital and from that time until the 1st of June was confined to bed. He is somewhat weak yet, but improving nicely, and expects to remain here for several weeks before returning to his old job at Jerome. Mrs. Bayless did not return with him, but will remain on the coast a couple of weeks longer with friends.

Rev. Luther Moore spent a few days this week at Grand Canyon on church business.

Dr. M. O. Dumas and Ira Hart left Tuesday for Los Angeles to remain a couple weeks.

Miss Mable Milligan left yesterday afternoon for Berkeley, California, where she will take a summer school course of six weeks.

B. B. Brandon of the Citizens' Bank had to go to Williams Tuesday to manage the branch there while R. A. Morse was answering the call to jury duty.

Mr. Anderson, the lumberman, of Phoenix, is busy engaged in sawing up logs at Chalender, and the old pioneer lumber camp looks lively again with several new shacks recently built for the accommodation of his men.

John Loy was in yesterday from his ranch at Mund's Park. Mr. Loy says there was never a better prospect for crops than there is this year and that he has the heaviest stand of grain for years. All needed now is the usual summer rains to bring them out.

Royal Leisher, the Phoenix architect, was in Flagstaff Tuesday inspecting the new building work at the Normal school. Mr. Leisher was on his way to Buffalo, where he has been called by the serious illness of his wife, who is not expected to live.

Another Kansan deciding to make Arizona his home is Ira Daugherty of Kansas City. Mr. Daugherty has been in Flagstaff several days. He is a mechanic by trade, a brother-in-law of Garland Tillman of the White Garage, and has accepted a position in that growing firm.

Mrs. Geizella Easthane, resident of Phoenix for several years, has moved to Flagstaff and is in charge of the soda fountain at C. A. Keller's confectionery. Mrs. Easthane was engaged in that work during her entire stay in Phoenix and should be a welcome addition to the force of that popular store.

Drs. Crump, Herron and Schorfeite, who have been inspecting Indian stock on the Indian reservation for dourane, returned Wednesday, having completed the inspection work. Drs. Herron and Schorfeite left for their former station at Cincinnati. Dr. Crump still has the pleasant duty of killing off all the animals shown to be infected with disease.

City Marshal Neill calls attention to the infractions of the city ordinances relative to automobiles, and earnestly suggests that you park on the right side of the street at the proper distance as shown by the big black mark on the curb; also making street crossings at a speed of not over six miles per hour. Congested traffic at times makes it exceedingly dangerous not only for those on foot, but for autos as well.

The fuel oil reservoir of the Santa Fe, located southeast of the depot, is being emptied. The big tank, with a capacity of 90 or 100 cars, was filled during the war as a precautionary measure, and its contents were only lightly touched. Now, however, road engines are getting their supply there and there is none being put back in. Whether the reservoir will be discontinued is not known, but it will require several months yet to empty it.

Considerable favorable comment has been accorded the management of Marlar Hall on the music furnished of late for the dances. Truswell's orchestra seems to have been pleasing them very much.

Train No. 1, which goes through here at 9:55 will carry a mail sack for all mail for Phoenix and points south of Phoenix, thus putting Flagstaff mail into Phoenix several hours earlier. This service was put on last Monday.

Judge Robert J. Kidd has returned from his trip to Los Angeles looking and feeling 100 per cent better than when he left. The judge needed a vacation for his health's sake badly and it's good to see him so much improved.

Mrs. B. McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McDonald of Camp Verde, were in Flagstaff the first of the week. Mrs. B. McDonald is well known here, having made Flagstaff her home in other years. She remains here for a short stay while Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McDonald went on a trip to St. Louis.

Dr. O. S. Baum, pastor of the Federated Church, who has been in California, recovering from a nervous breakdown for several months, is expected home in time to have charge of the Sunday services, July 6th. His health has improved wonderfully ever since his departure from Flagstaff.

F. W. Butler, Santa Fe signal foreman, was badly bitten by a dog at Chalender yesterday and came to Flagstaff to have the wound dressed. He says the dog was friendly the last time he met him; but this time the canine came trotting up and without warning bit him in the leg making several bad gashes with his teeth.

J. T. Rush, just as large and pleasant as ever, came up from Prescott Tuesday with his auto after being released from jury duty there. He had no special trouble in reaching here, except the loss of his poodle pup when it accidentally dropped from his car and was not missed for an hour or two. He went back and found it peddling along trying to catch up.

PROF. MASTERS

World's Greatest Clairvoyant; The Man Who While in Prescott Last July Predicted That the War Would Be Ended in November in Favor of the Allies.

There is no secret hidden from this man's vision, no mystery he can not divine. Many sad hearts have been gladdened, many weary lives made bright through the advice and magnetism of this remarkable man. He simply baffles description, and amazes men and women in all walks of life, who daily consult him on love, courtship, marriage, divorces, wills, deeds, mortgages, investments, speculations, business travels, changes, losses, illness, and all affairs of life.
